

RESULTS OF GERMAN AIR RAIDS OVER PARIS

The upper photograph shows a view of several of the houses which were wrecked by the bombs dropped by the Germans. These places of "military importance" to the Germans were the homes of the people who live in the poorer section of Paris. The lower photograph shows the results of bombs dropped on the dormitory of a children's hospital, which fortunately had been vacated in time by the 200 children, and none were injured there. The building is a mass of wreckage. If the children had not been removed doubtless every one of them would have been killed.

ELEVEN OFFENSES PUNISHABLE BY DEATH IN UNITED STATES ARMY

Sentence of Sleepy Sentries With the Army in France Calls Attention to Offenses Which May Be Punished by Hanging or Shooting—Death Sentence Is Mandatory Only in Case of Spy—Many Touching Stories.

Washington.—Four American soldiers, sentenced to death for sleeping on sentry duty in the front-line trenches in France, may be saved from the law's extreme penalty by General Pershing's action in sending the records of their cases to Washington for review. General Pershing has authority to carry out the sentence of the court-martial, but it is only on foreign soil that such power lies in the commanding general's hands, for by an order of December 29 the war department, at the suggestion of the president, ruled that no death sentence in the army forces in this country could be executed before review of the case by the department. So far as is known here, the only execution of an American soldier in France up to the present time has been that of Private F. Cadore, hanged in November for assault and murder of a French girl.

Punishable by Death. Under the laws of the American military organization, 11 offenses are punishable by death, although there are variously subdivided. Spies must suffer the death penalty, and there is the only offense for which the death sentence is mandatory. For murder and rape, punishment must, according to the ruling, be either death or life imprisonment; if the death sentence is imposed it is by hanging. Spies are usually hanged, also, because, to quote the manual of regulations, "death by hanging is considered more ignominious than death by shooting." Hanging, the rule continues, "is the usual method of execution designated in the case of spies, of persons guilty of murder in connection with mutiny, or sometimes for desertion in the face of the enemy; but in the case of a purely military offense, such as sleeping on post, such sentence, when imposed, is usually to be shot to death with musketry." For the sake of example, and to deter others from committing like offenses, the death sentence may, when deemed advisable, be executed in the presence of the troops of the command.

At Discretion of Court-Martial. The other eight offenses, or groups of offenses, listed as punishable by death leave the penalty to the discretion of the court-martial. "Death or such other punishment as the court-martial may direct" is the usual wording of the army regulation. The offenses are cowardice, in any one of a variety of ways; sleep or drunkenness on sentry post; desertion or the incitement to or assistance in desertion; attack upon a superior officer or insubordination; mutiny or sedition; making known the countersign; forcing safeguard; relieving the enemy with ammunition "or any other thing," or harboring or giving intelligence to the enemy.

In the offense of "neglect of sentry duty," which is a betrayal of responsibility whose seriousness has made it an almost unforgivable crime against military law, the letter of the regulation recognizes no difference between being asleep and being intoxicated. The ruling reads: "Any sentry who is found drunk or sleeping upon his post, or who leaves it before he is regularly relieved, shall, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may decree." It is further provided that "the fact that the accused had been previously overtaken by excessive guard duty is not a defense, although evidence to that effect may be received as extenuation of the offense." The point is distinctly made that the sentry who neglects his duty has jeopardized no one knows how many thousands of his fellows, and it may be a crucial position to his country's cause. Whether he was intoxicated or merely asleep is, in the letter of the law, a minor matter.

insubordination. The rule regarding insubordination is very strict. It reads: "Any person subject to military law who, on any pretense whatever, strikes his superior officer or draws or lifts up any weapon against him, being in the execution of his office, or wilfully disobeys any lawful command of his superior officers, shall suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct." It is explained, however, that this does not apply to the striking of an officer "in legitimate self-defense," and, of course, an officer who strikes a man under him is liable to severe punishment. Rules regarding punishment for mutiny or sedition are inclusive. The death penalty may be imposed at the discretion of the court-martial upon anyone who "attempts to create, begin, cause, excite, or join in" mutiny or sedition, but the liability to the extreme punishment does not stop there. Anyone who, being present at a mutiny or seditious outbreak, does not "do his utmost to suppress it" may be punished by the execution of the death sentence, as if he had been an organizer of the sedition himself. Also, anyone who has reason to believe that a mutiny is about to occur or that sedition is being stirred up must report the matter in full to his superior officer on pain of incurring the same punishment as an actual mutineer.

"Making known the countersign" and "forcing safeguard" are purely military offenses for which the death penalty may be imposed. "Relieving the enemy" may cover a number of military crimes against one's country, and "harboring the enemy" or "directly or indirectly giving him any sort of intelligence" is punishable by death at the discretion of the court-martial.

Many Touching Stories. The tragedy of sleeping on post has furnished some of the most famous and touching stories in the history of our own and other lands. Everyone has heard the story of Lincoln's forgiveness of the country boy who, tired by a long campaign, slept at his sentry post. An English soldier, writing of his experiences in this war, tells how he found a young sentry asleep in an important point of watch, and of the agony of mind that preceded his decision that he must report the youth whose neglect of duty might have had terrible consequences for his comrades and the army's position.

Appropos of the war department's order that death sentences passed upon soldiers in this country be referred to it for review, it is recalled that Lincoln in 1861 ruled that no army death sentence should be executed until he had personally examined all the circumstances and facts in the case.

CUT DOWN ON STAR BOARDER

Boston Committee Plans for Special Boarder's Pledge Card in That City.

Boston.—A special boarder's pledge card may soon be in circulation in this city as a means of food conservation in boarding houses. This is not a new boarding house joke, but a plan of the woman's committee of the Council of National Defense. Of course the boarding house patron will protest against conservation of food—he always has—but without results. Here is the card the woman's committee would have boarders sign: "I, at present a boarder in this city, hereby accept membership in the United States food administration, pledging myself, as a patriotic duty, to co-operate with the proprietor in the conservation of meat, wheat, sugar and fats, according to the directions and advice of the food administrator."

THINKS IT'S A CATALOGUE

Greek Returns Questionnaire Saying There Was Nothing on List He Cared to Buy.

Tulsa, Okla.—Mistaking his questionnaire for a catalogue, Iefredo Ordo, a Greek, living at Escala, returned it to his exemption board with a note, written in Greek, saying there was nothing in the list he wished to purchase. Another questionnaire, returned by a Mexican, was accompanied by a note which stated that the man could not read United States, but knew it was to help the war, so he inclosed a $5 bill.

TO SPEED THE KNITTING

The comfort committee of the Navy league of the United States has installed in its headquarters several knitting machines for making sweaters, mittens, socks and other wearing apparel for "our boys" "over here" and "over there." The immediate need of these necessities and in anticipation of the enormous amount of these articles which will be needed by the boys in the next fall is responsible for the action taken by the Navy league. They have found that a pair of socks can be turned out on a machine in 30 minutes. An appeal has been sent out to our patriotic knitters to operate machines instead of knitting by hand and thereby speed up the work.
